Recovery after Harvey - helping people rebuild & repair

SER is providing students hands-on experience by bringing them in work crews to repair homes in low-income communities.

SER is committed to helping people rebuild, repair, and establish a new normal after Harvey. Our efforts include a student assistance fund to help SER students and alumni address unmet needs like housing, food, and transportation, as well as financial recovery coaching to help clients address financial issues related to the storm, such as missed payments.

We are also offering an increased number of construction classes with a modified curriculum to include specializations like drywall, roofing, and mold remediation, ensuring students are well-equipped to obtain employment with local construction companies and help rebuild the community.

Thank you for your support of these recovery efforts – we are stronger together!
